DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-14 and 17-19, drawn to a peptide that binds streptavidin, classified in class 530, subclass 350.
  - II. Claims 15-16 and 20-22, drawn to nucleic acids encoding a peptide and vector, classified in class 435, subclass 69.1.
  - III. Claims 23, drawn to a method of purifying a protein, classified in class 530, subclass 412.
  - IV. Claim 24-27, drawn to a method of detecting the presence of a fusion protein, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1.

2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The nucleic acids of invention II are related to the protein of invention I by virtue of encoding same. The DNA molecule has utility for the recombinant production of the protein in a host cell, as recited in the claims of invention II. Although the DNA molecule and protein are related since the DNA encodes the specifically claimed protein, they are distinct inventions because the protein product can be made by another and materially different process, such as by synthetic peptide synthesis or purification from the natural source. Further, the DNA may be used for processes other than the production of the protein, such as nucleic acid hybridization assay. Thus, they can be unconnected in use and operation.

Art Unit: 1653

Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the protein product could be made recombinantly or chemically synthesized.

Invention IV discloses a method for detecting the product of invention I and are thus related. However, the inventions are patentably distinct because the product of invention I need not be present during the detection process and thus the method of invention IV can neither utilize the products of invention I nor be used to make such products.

The product of invention II is not used in the method of inventions III or IV. Therefore, invention II is patentably distinct from inventions III or IV.

The methods of inventions III and IV require different products and steps and have different endpoints. Therefore, inventions III and IV are patentably distinct.

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Groups II-IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Advisory Information

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Art Unit: 1653

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
